The learning will be organised in the form of workshops and roundtables where participants will be actively engaged in activities designed to let them reflect on both theoretical and practical aspects of the topic.

During the course, participants will understand the mechanisms of early school leaving and how to prevent this phenomenon by:

- learning about the psychological and sociological factors of early school leaving.
- developing applicable skills and techniques that can be used to establish positive relationships with students.
- reflecting on how to improve and maintain communication and involvement of families into the school curriculum.
- assessing the right way to implement long-term strategies against school leaving in their school.
